The Circassian left Galway in the teeth of a strong head ever, and which, during the night of the 22d ultimo, inself equal to the emergency, and rode out the storm with-out sustaining the slightest injury. About half past two clock on the 28th she made the harbor of St. Johns, N. The Coroner's investigation into the cause of the ex-sission on board the Great Eastern had terminated. The he had control, and the head engineer of the ship made a similar denial. The verdict of the jury was as follows:-

we find that the deceased came to their deaths from in-laries received from steam, hot air and water, in conse-quence of the bursting of a jacket attached to the foremost tunnel of the Great Eastern steamship, and that said bursting was caused by the closing of a tap connected with the syphon attached to such jacket, in conjunction with the shutting off the feed from the water casing to the bolivis; but there is no evidence before the jury to show by what person or persons the tap was shat off; and the jury further express their opinion that said taps are nightly dangerous when placed in such positions, and that sufficient caution was not used by the engineers. The verdict is simple "Accidental death."

It is considered likely that the accident may give rise to THE SAN JUAN DIFFICULTY.

The American General's exploit seems to have been sothing more than one of those acts of piracy by which lawless representatives of the United States are accused to settle disputes with weaker and more barbarous neighbors, but which it is time she should be taught they cannot safely indulge in against powerful and civilized nations. The article concludes as follows:-

We trust the government of the United States will speedily disavow the act of its officer, otherwise the Eng-ish government will be forced to take immediate stops for the vindication of the honor of the country, and showing the licensed ruffians of the federal army that they must not appropriate British territory as coolly as if they were merely cutting off another slice of Mexico. THE IRISH REVIVALS AND THE BRANDING IMPOSTURERS.

A meeting was lately held in the church of the Rev. William Breakey, Lisburn, Ireland, one of its leading objects being to hear from the lips of the reverend gentleman a statement bearing on the results of some of his investigations as to the fruits of the revival movement in that town and neighborhood. Mr. Breakey advocated the revival, but in his discourse on the heavenly trance "Religionists" he said:—I, myself, have seen four strange instances, which I think I cannot too strongly bring before you. With respect to the tirst, I saw nothing extraordinary or miraculous; and with regard to the second, there were no marks while I was there, although it was said there were words visible on the fish, which, I confess, I could not see. But with reference to the third case, there were certainly visible marks on the body of the person, and I was told that these meant "My Christ." These were so placed in the zigzag form that I could not make anything out of them; and you, my brethren, might as well make "My Christ." from the sheet of paper (holding up a biank sheet) which I now place before you, as I could make "My Christ." from the marks which were then exhibited to me. Now, with regard to the fourth case, I certainly saw marks upon the skin of that woman, and they were in this form. [The reverend gentleman here exhibited a sheet of paper with a scroll upon it, showing crutin marks on the arm of the female referred to.] Now (cantinued the reverend gentleman), I cannot deny that mark, my brethren; but I ask you to listen to the evidence of the Rev. Mr. Hall on the subject, and to bear his testimeny in mind. Mr. Hall writes to me in these terms:—

Salling Of the Circassian from Gal-Way.

Hints to persons wanting passage by the line.

[From the Gaiway Express, September 12.]

The above at amer will sail this evening for St. Johns, N.F., and New York. She has on board 250 steerage and 120 salcon passengers. Upwards of 150 person-have been disappointed in obtaining steerage passages. This is attributable in a great measure to the fact that on mborn—persons neglect to book themselves with the agent in the locality to which they belong, thinking, doubtless, that it is quite time enough to take their passage of Galway on the day before sailing. We hope persons intending to sail by this line will disabuse their minds of this erroneous impression; for when the parties arrive here and apply to the office for a passage, they generally find to their surprise and loss they are put to very great expense, being obtiged to traviback again to their former places of residence, or remain in Gaiway until the sailing of the next et amer. We loop these few limits upon the necessity of booking whithe local agents, and that as early in the month as possible, will be acted upon by emigrants intending to proceed by this route.

Our Relations with New Granads.

[Transate: from the Coion correspondence of M Noticiose, of Oct. 1, for the New York Hgraid.]

Mr. Jones, Minister of the United States, had already received authority to present his credentials, with which he was very content; and it was hoped that he would do so in a few days, re-establishing by this means the good relations which ought to exist between the two countries, which the improper policy of Pierce and his agents, Bow in and Morse, had interrupted. Mr. Jones shows himself every day more satisfied with the cordial welcome which he has deserved from the polished society of Bogota. He says that he wishes New Granada to know it, and that he will be very happy to use all his efforts in contributing to draw nearer the friendship of two countries, so identical in interests and institutions. It has been stated that his lady would be in Bogota in December next.

The people of Bogota celebrated with feasts and great pump the anniversary of the memorable battle of Boyaca, which scaled the liberty of New Granada. The 7th of August, 1819, was a great day in the annals of Colombia; for it was on that day that Biolivar, at the head of his unprepared but enthusiastic patriots, made an end of his rapid and celebrated campaign.

thoroughfares in the city are becoming notorious for the number of abandoned females who parade along the sidewalks every evening in the week, and especially on saturdsy nights. Complaints have recently been made to the beputy Superintendent of Police, who, on Saturday evening, ordered the arrest of all who made themselves objectionable in the streets. By nine o'clock seven were brought in, all young, and several of them very stylishly dressed. As no direct charges could be presented against them they were permitted to go, after a detention of one of two hours, each one promising to behave herself in future.

PROBABLE MURDER IN THE SIXTH WARD.

Last evening a man named Michael Cornelius was dis covered by officer Gilligan, of the Sixth ward, lying in a condition, and suffering from the effects of a fatal stab in and could give no statement as to how he was stabbed. Cornelius has long been of intemperate habits, and is consequence his family was compelled to leave him some years ago. He was seen by some persons going through feonavan s lane into the yard of No. 12 Baxter street, where he fell into a kind of cellar. Information was given to officer Gilligan by a person who saw bim fall, thinking that he might probably be injured, and when the officer took him out, he found him covered with blood. It was stated by the residents of the place that the injured man had not been seen in that vicinity before in some days, and that there had been no disturbance in the neighborhood during the day. Cornelius most therefore have received his wound in some bar room difficulty, and that as making his way home to No. 416 Pearl street as best he could, having no idea that has

AN AFFAIR OF HONOR BETWEEN BILLY MULLIGAN AND CAPT RIVIERS

The "fancy" were in a high state of excitement on Saturday night, in consequence of a rumor which was in circulation to the effect that Billy Mulligan and Captain Riviere had fought a duel, which resulted in the gallant Zonave being badly wounded. Upon making inquiries egard to the matter yesterday, our reporter learned the Zonave being badly wounded. Upon making inquiries in regard to the matter yesterday, our reporter learned the following purticulars in relation to the affair, which may not be uninteresting to the mass of our readers:—Mulligan and Rivlere, it appears, have been on bad terms of late. On Friday the parties met in Broadway, when some words passed between them of a not altogether pacific nature. Melligan remarked that he considered the Captain much be neath his notice, whereupon the Zouave very politely handed the gestieman his card, and chatlenged him to mertal combat at the Elysian Fields, Hoboken, on the following morning. Mulligan accepted the cartel, chose pistois as weapons, and promised to be on hand at an early hour. Agreeable to arrangement the belligarents, with their seconds, met at Hoboken, but, like the King of France's men, they

"Marched up the hill and down again," and returned to New York without firing a single shot. Mulligan says that the Captain showed the white feather, and, making as me rioleulous excuse, left the ground. On the other hand, the gallant Zouave states that the difficulty lay in his not being provided with a second who could speak English, and that the meeting had to be adjourned in consequence. When the adjourned meeting will take place it is bard to say. The probability is that the affair has gone as far as was intended on both side, and that the chances of any blood being spilled are slim. At all events the 'knowing ones' anticipate no further difficulty between these herces; so that any feverish anxiety the public may have in regard to the matter may be absted for the with the first probability of the weather may be absted for the with the first public may have in regard to the matter may be absted for the with the first public may have in regard to the matter may be absted for the with the first public may have in regard to the matter may be absted for the with the first public may have in regard to the matter may be absted for the with the first public may have in regard to
